RACING WITH FERRARI

We invite the following experienced personnel to join our Ferrari GT racing team:

Race Engineers

Responsible for the technical operation of one of our GT racing cars during testing and race weekends, you will have the opportunity to work with our professional drivers and our technical partners to further develop the Ferrari 430GT2. Applicants should have prior experience in professional-level racing (F3 / GP2 / GT / LMP).

Junior Race Engineers

Responsible for the acquisition, management and analysis of our race car data, you will have the opportunity to develop new analysis and simulation tools in a professional race team environment. You should be university educated, with prior racing experience.

Crew Chief & No. 1 Mechanics

Responsible for preparing our Ferrari GT cars to the highest possible standards, you must be able to work well under pressure and to tight time constraints. Prior experience in professional racing formulae (F3 / GP2 / GT / LMP) is essential for this role.

Race Team Secretary

Working alongside the Race Team Manager and Commercial Director, you will be responsible for organising race team logistics, and assist in the day to day administration of the team. A background in marketing or accounting would also count in your favour.

All candidates should be organised, methodical, and highly motivated, with an exceptional level of commitment. As part of a closely knit team, a high emphasis will be placed on personal interaction and group working skills.
